Advanced Tax-Efficient Planning for CPAs & Tax Professionals

Life Insurance with Living Benefits - Conceptual Framework

Life insurance with living benefits provides access to policy benefits during the insured's lifetime in the event of qualifying critical, chronic, or terminal illness. From a planning perspective, this structure can offer tax-advantaged liquidity when it is most needed, helping protect income, assets, and long-term plans. When structured properly, benefits are often received on a tax-favored basis and can complement estate, business, and retirement strategies.

Long-Term Care Planning Using Hybrid Structures

Both traditional and hybrid long-term care plans are available. Julia prefers hybrid LTC for its predictability, contractual guarantees, and potential business tax deductions, depending on the product and business structure. Hybrid plans can combine LTC benefits with life insurance or an annuity. These designs can provide leveraged LTC benefits and, with life insurance-based plans, preserve a death benefit for heirs if care is never required.

Ask Julia which LTC product will work best for your particular client.

Retirement Planning & Tax-Deductible Contributions

Retirement planning can offer substantial tax deductions through traditional IRAs, SEP IRAs, and defined contribution plans such as 401(k)s, subject to eligibility and contribution limits. For high-income business owners and self-employed professionals, defined benefit plans, including cash balance plans, may allow significantly larger deductible contributions. Funding amounts and deduction limits are determined through actuarial calculations based on factors such as age, compensation, and the retirement benefit being funded. Julia coordinates with the client's CPA and specialized retirement plan professionals to evaluate an appropriate structure.
